"Let my son often read and reflect on history"

Napoleon Bonaparte
Island of Elba, 1821

Therein lies the true philosophy. He should read and reflect on the wars of the great generals, it is the only way to learn about war...

But all that you teach him and all that he learns will only be of use if in his heart he has the sacred flame, that love of good which alone achieves great things..."

The legacy of advice by the former Emperor Napoleon to his son.

NOTES:

The 1790 South Carolina federal census was prolonged into 1792. It employed the seven districts then existing, shown as bold lines on the map. Within the districts were differing census subdivisions, shown as lighter black lines.

1. Camden, Cheraws, and Ninety Six Districts used their county subdivisions.
2. Charleston and Georgetown Districts employed their parish bounds. Their counties of 1790 never functioned and are not shown on the map.
3. Beaufort District was not enumerated by subdivisions in 1790. Its counties of 1790 never functioned and are not shown on the map.
4. Orangeburg District had four active counties, but the census ignored them. Orangeburg for this one census was divided into North and South, shown as a dotted line on the map. This division was the road in the forks of the Edisto from Edgefield County to the town of Orangeburg and then down the North Edisto and Edisto to the Charleston District line.

PARISHES OF CHARLESTON DISTRICT:

1. St. Stephens
2. St. James Santee
3. St. Johns Berkeley
4. St. Thomas/St. Denis
5. Christ Church
6. St. James Goose Creek

8. St. Georges Dorchester
9. St. Andrews
10. St. Johns Colleton

NOTES:

By 1800, South Carolina had been reorganized into numerous districts that functioned like the counties of other states. However, there remained three districts that still employed subdivisions called "counties," although these were not functioning counties.

These three districts - Georgetown, Orangeburg, and Sumter - are shown on the map with their county subdivisions marked by dashed lines.

Marion District in 1800 was identical in boundaries with its non-functioning, subordinate county of Liberty, a carryover from the abortive Liberty County of old Georgetown District.

"Waccamaw" in Georgetown District was the area east of the Waccamaw River, shown as a dotted line. This unique census division included parts of two Georgetown counties.

CENSUS AVAILABILITY

Federal census extant for all districts except Richland, shown as "lost" on map.
